

The law firm of Sacks & Sacks congratulates Andrew M. Sacks for his selection again this year for the “LEGAL ELITE” in the category of Criminal Defense.

Andrew is a partner with his father, Stanley, in their Norfolk law firm, Sacks & Sacks. Founded in 1911 by the late Herman A. Sacks, the firm's three generations of trial lawyers have been representing clients in the state and federal courts in Virginia continuously for nearly 100 years.

Andrew, a summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Dartmouth College, received his law degree from the University of Virginia, where he served on the law school's National Moot Court Team. For the past 29 years, he has concentrated on plaintiff's injury, civil rights personal injury, and wrongful death trial law, and criminal defense work in state and federal court. Currently Immediate Past President of the Virginia Trial Lawyers Association, past co-chair of the recently founded Virginia Criminal Justice Conference, a Fellow of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers, and a past President of the Virginia Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, Andrew has been listed in The Best Lawyers in America editions since 1993, and appears in the 2010 edition in the categories of both White-Collar and Non-White-Collar Criminal Defense, as well as Personal Injury Litigation. Active in community affairs, Andrew was a founding member of the Norfolk Aids Walk For Life Foundation, and he chairs the Virginia Anti-Defamation League. He and his wife, Robyn, reside in Norfolk with their five children, including nine-year old Aurora adopted in 2001 in China.
