Large firm resources. Boutique firm expertise.

Watt, Tieder, Hoffar & Fitzgerald, LLP (WTHF) is one of the largest construction law firms in the United States with four domestic offices and a European affiliate, HFK Rechtsanwälte, based in Munich, Germany. Our firm has over 100 highly experienced attorneys and six practice areas that include International and Domestic Construction, Government Contracts, Surety, Real Estate, and, most recently, Insolvency. Our attorneys represent many of the world's leading corporations, developers and contractors on both domestic and international projects of all kinds. For more than three decades, WTHF has been building solutions – and delivering results.

From project planning and design through the drafting of all types of construction contracts, subcontracts, purchase orders and related documents; to day-to-day participation in the administration of dozens of construction projects and the final resolution of claims through settlement, all types of alternative dispute resolution, and litigation, WTHF has handled virtually every type of construction matter imaginable. Our firm has represented 60 percent of the top 30 Engineering News Record contractors and seven of the top 10 surety writers. Our clients come from all sides of the construction industry and all corners of the globe, from owners, developers and sureties to suppliers and subcontractors throughout Europe, the Middle East, Africa, the Americas, Asia, and Australia.

Year after year, WTHF is ranked by numerous organizations as one of the leading law firms in construction law and our attorneys are recognized for their work in the construction and legal industries. In 2009, the firm was ranked as the #1 Construction Law firm in the United States by Chambers USA, the Legal 500 US and Best Lawyers in America. WTHF has developed a stalwart reputation among our clients and colleagues alike.

Building solutions for our clients, one project at a time.

Since our 1978 inception in northern Virginia – just minutes from Washington, DC – we have served over 400 clients; some of whom we have represented over the course of 10 and even 20 years. Our clients have always been – and continue to be – the true hallmark of our longevity and success. This loyalty is a direct result of our culture of client service and dedication. The growth of the firm is a testament to our core philosophy: the efficient and economical handling of construction matters through diligent effort, quality representation and a clear understanding of our clients' business objectives. WTHF is proud to keep the legal side of our clients' industries in perspective while allowing their businesses to soar to new heights.
