Owned and operated by the University of Virginia Foundation, Boar's Head is just minutes from Thomas Jefferson's University of Virginia, only two hours from Washington, D.C., Tidewater and Roanoke; one hour from Richmond and Harrisonburg and at the foot of the beautiful Blue Ridge Mountains. Featuring 22,000 square feet of meeting facilities for groups of 20 to 630, the Boar's Head spaces were designed with meetings and conventions in mind.

Let Boar's Head change the way you meet with a health and wellness focus. Commitment to organic, local, farm-to-table dining as well as fitness galore—UVA's new McArthur Squash Center, Birdwood Golf Course, 220,000-square-foot sports facility, and an intimate spa—makes Boar's Head your answer to a health and wellness meeting destination.

For event breakouts, coffee and donuts no longer suffice. Planners can order house-made smoothies and build-your-own trail mix bars. Themed breaks can include a "choose Your Craft Beer" bar or a breast cancer awareness break with pink lemonade, red velvet cake pops, massages and a pink express manicure! Of course, Boar's Head is known for team-building sessions such as Iron Chef competitions, Cooking Classes, Customized Breaks, Theme Dinners, and more.

No wonder Boar's Head has received the Pinnacle Award in 2011, 2012, was awarded VAMPI 2011-2012 Host Facility of the Year and 2012 Convention South New or Renovated Meeting Site Award.
