THE INSTITUTE CONFERENCE CENTER Danville

Meet in a high-tech, stunning facility

Nestled away on top of a large hill in Danville, Virginia you will find the Institute for Advanced Learning and Research (IALR) – a research institution that simultaneously works to increase educational attainment and economic development in Southern Virginia.

In addition, the Institute Conference Center (ICC) located at the IALR serves as an instrumental part of the mission to drive economic development.

The ICC offers a fully equipped and technologically advanced setting at the crossroads of the two major expressways in Danville. As the premiere conference center in the area, the breathtaking facility offers nearly 25,000 square feet of meeting space. An 8,400 square foot flexible Great Hall with seating capabilities of up to 800 theater style, a 135-seat tiered surround sound Executive Auditorium and a beautiful glass atrium showcasing modern architecture are just a few highlights.

The business facilities offer numerous amenities including an Executive Boardroom, also known as the million dollar room and three perfectly appointed business conference rooms. Other meeting spaces are available such as computer labs, classrooms and a multipurpose room featuring interactive white boards, short throw overhead projectors and portable touch screens. From executive and professional training workshops, trade shows, conferences and receptions, the ICC offers options that will satisfy all of your event needs.

New in 2013, the ICC boasts renovated meeting spaces and the latest in technology including nine 60" High-definition (HD) LCD displays, creating a screen of approximately 15 feet diagonal. One business conference room features a new up fit composed of an 80" interactive touch screen and full HD video conferencing. The room utilizes a digital media presentation system replacing older analog technology with digital technology along with ceiling mounted microphones and wall mounted controls. The ICC offers superior technology services as well including onsite IT specialists to assist with stress-free events, video conferencing and teleconferencing, audio and video recording capabilities, online streaming and more.

Through a partnership with Sodexo, the ICC provides a broad menu of service tailored specifically to fit any group's needs. The extensive menus range from budget friendly to five-star meals.

Perhaps one of the most important aspects of conferencing to the ICC's team is that of customer service. The ICC's knowledgeable and friendly staff will assist with arrangements and menu planning, making events effortless yet still creating a memorable experience. The team is dedicated to providing exceptional service and looks forward to welcoming you to Southern Virginia!
