NORTH CAROLINA

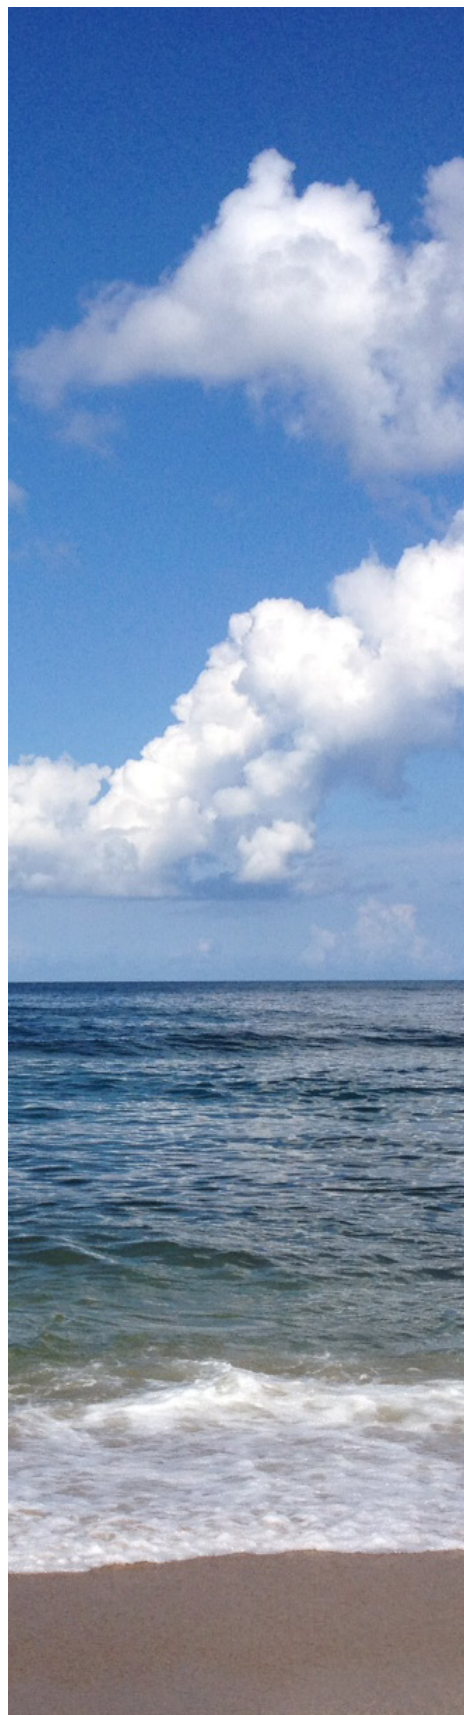

An ideal place to meet on the Outer Banks

In Spring 2015, the eight rooms in the Sanderling Resort located in the Outer Banks of Duck, North Carolina unveiled 24 new guest-rooms. A new third floor on the North Inn provided stunning views above the dune lines of the Atlantic Ocean or the Currituck Sound. The addition of the eight rooms in the Beach House included junior suites with views and two larger suites with balconies to enjoy both the sunrise and sunset. The 13 acres now houses 120 total guestrooms and 5 vacation homes. Attendees can enjoy two outdoor pools, including an adult-only tranquility pool, inviting fire pits and a tranquil spa offering indigenous healing treatments. The resort is home to Kimball's Kitchen serving fresh, local seafood and Certified Angus Beef® and the Lifesaving Station and No 5 Bar, housed in the national historic building offering inside and outside dining and featuring locally sourced coastal Carolina cuisine. With more than 12,000 square feet of updated indoor and outdoor event space and a dedicated catering team, meeting planners have a venue to suit any need.
